TIMBER ROUND SHOWJUMP POLE TYPES

HEARTWOOD

This type of pole is our 'standard' pole specification and will be provided as standard unless specified. Our heartwood poles are carefully monitored and under go a air drying process to reduce the moisture content and then get undercoated before they get too dry for any cracks to appear. This type of pole is typically the type to be found at your local sawmill. This pole is machined from the centre of the log section and typically after machining into shape will then be pressure treated and then air dried. This pole is typically heavier than the Quarter cut due to them not going through a controlled drying process to remove the natural moisture within the timber. This type of pole does have a higher tendency to crack or possibly warp over time - this does not effect the strength of the pole and is NO CAUSE FOR COMPLAINT. Pole weights will vary from approx 10kg - 16kg per pole with a finished size of 100mm diameter.

QUATER CUT

This type of pole is also known as CROSSWOOD. This pole is machined from the ex-core of the log meaning it has less tension in the grain which makes this type less likely to warp or crack. This pole type is also force dried, reducing the moisture to 21% which contributes to how this type of pole is lighter than the heartwood. This pole type is not pressure treated. This pole type remains a natural product and can possibly crack & warp which is NO CAUSE FOR COMPLAINT. Pole weight approx 10kg with a finished size of 95mm diameter.

Please note - Although Quarter cut poles can be a better quality timber, this is not mandatory for British Showjumping - British Showjumping Rule Book - Section 2 OBSTACLES

BSJA RULE BOOK - 'For affiliated competitions, the top pole must be wooden not plastic and all plastic poles used underneath the top element (pole) must be weighted. The minimum face width of a show jump pole is 2m' Reference British Showjumping Rule Book - Section 2, OBSTACLES, 131 Structure & appearance point 1.
